

Meeting 3: Sept 30 – Oct 2, 2013, Potsdam, University of Potsdam
 Sequential organisation of multimodal interaction

Sept 30	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Tutorial: Analyzing prosody in embodied interaction (Elizabeth Couper-Kuhlen / Margret Selting)</li> <li>• Data sessions:</li> </ul> Data Session 1: The sequential construction and embodiment of “cleaning up the room”: a joint activity by a parent-child-dyad (Nele Gerhardt) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- identification of objects as “not in the right place”</li> <li>- joint activity (?): missing (?) co-operation not problematic for participants</li> <li>- establishing a joint activity space (body orientation, gaze, reaching, showing)</li> <li>- importance of peripheral vision for co-ordination (when apex of father’s gesture is reached, girl turns)</li> <li>- humming as a resource of resistance/performance of casualness</li> <li>- roles (girl as expert, supervising dad)</li> <li>- teaching situation: Dad teaches girl how to sort things out</li> <li>- situated activity turned into verbal activity by father through Q/A sequences</li> <li>- girls performance of casualness ‘deproblematises’ situation</li> </ul> Data Session 2: Embodying evidential positioning in news interviews (Elisabeth Reber) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- so in lines 27, 56, 65, 83, 91: different kinds of prosodic/phonetic packaging</li> <li>- “integrated” sos referring forward</li> <li>- disfluencies after so in lines 27, 56, 65</li> <li>- so in line 27 resumes some previous position on the part of the current speaker</li> <li>- line 89: eyebrow flash timed on accent in bUsiness</li> <li>- performing obviousness</li> <li>- shrug: retrospective element of conclusion</li> <li>- line 92: appeal for alignment</li> </ul> Data Session 3: The coordination of activities in caretaking interactions with elderly people (Harrie Mazeland) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- situated activity system □ concept of action</li> <li>- projectable slots in action-based sequences used for language-based actions</li> <li>- progression-relevant boundaries marked by verbal and other means (e.g. “nou” or smoothing of skirt as finishing touch)</li> <li>- apparent small talk turns into vital information</li> <li>- full repeat as move to assert commitment from a position of independence</li> </ul>
Oct 1	Data Session 4: Intra-operative decision making in surgery (Jeff Bezemer) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- decision-making: how much is agreement negotiated?</li> <li>- “critical view” as procedural check during operations</li> <li>- anatomy shaped by the gesture</li> <li>- no labeling of things: surgical team has visual access to what’s going on: gesture enhancing visibility</li> <li>- evidence of visible field</li> <li>- evidential practices: 1) making evidence visible to the operating team, 2) establishing certainty</li> </ul> Data Session 5: Multimodality in Handball (Christian Meyer / Ulrich von Wedelstädt) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Communication under pressure: timeouts in handball in different realisations</li> <li>- Timeouts are not genres since no conventionalized patterns can be found; rather monologic(?), multi-unit structure</li> <li>- use of imperatives vs. use of non-finite verb phrases</li> <li>- use of direct address (2nd person) vs. third person reference</li> <li>- different tone of voice</li> <li>- inner circle vs outer (e.g. physical therapist) circle (embodied in space)</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- the final “huddle” as a ritual practice and local accomplishment of the groups (who is part of it? (coach in, coach out?), who starts it (coach, players, based on “feeling”/clock?)</li> <li>- time out as time in for coach</li> <li>• Summarising notions / issues that surfaced during the data session (key terms, talk vs non-talk, stance, modes, baseline, units of analysis, cultures/languages</li> <li>• Discussion of network publication</li> <li>• Guided Tour</li> </ul>
Oct 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Organisational matters (5th meeting, conference panels, dissemination of results)</li> <li>• Meeting of notion groups</li> <li>• Closing</li> </ul>